RUSSIANS BATTLE HUNGARIAN REBELLION

Boy, 8, Killed, Girl, 6, Injured By Attacker, 27

Fostoria Man Admits Taking Children For Ride, Beating Them

FORSTORIA, Ohio (AP)—An 8-year-old boy died here today two hours after he was found in a woods with his head crushed by hammer blows.

Police said George Bixler, 27, of Fostoria had signed a statement admitting that he attacked the boy and his 6-year-old sister after taking them for a ride. Bixler was held without formal charge.

Patrolman Carl Rouse said Thomas Sheridan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sheridan, died in Fostoria Hospital at 6:30 a.m. about two hours after he had been found in a woods 3 1/2 miles southwest of here.

Boy's Sister Critical
The boy's sister, Juanita, is in critical condition at the hospital. She was found beside a road two miles east of here.

Rouse said Bixler admitted hitting the children "three or four times" on the head with a mechanic's hammer and abandoning them after attempting to attack them sexually.

Bixler told police in his statement that he picked the children up at their home about 9:30 o'clock Tuesday night on the pretext of taking them for a ride in his new car.

Parents Didn't Object
The children's parents did not object to their going with Bixler, their former neighbor, but became worried and called police when he had not returned them at midnight.

Bixler, an employee of a sugar beet processing plant at Findlay, was brought to the police station early today by his uncle, Lloyd Johnson, with whom he lives. He at first denied knowing anything about the whereabouts of the children, but under questioning admitted the attacks, Rouse said.

Rouse said Bixler helped him and Patrolman Joe Hammer in locating the children.

Driver Succumbs To Injuries

East Liverpool Man Was Hurt On Sunday

Louis Williams, 63, of East Liverpool succumbed at 11:05 a.m. Tuesday in City Hospital here of injuries sustained in an auto mishap Sunday at the intersection of the Washingtonville-Camfield Road and Rt. 165, four miles south of Canfield.

He had sustained shock and fractured ribs.

Mrs. Williams, 52, a passenger in her husband's auto, sustained lacerations. She is in fair condition at the hospital.

Canfield State Highway Patrolmen said the Williams car, traveling north on the Washingtonville-Camfield Road, and an auto driven east on the Route 165 by William Fretz, 49 of Akron, collided head-on.

Ellsworth School Merger To Be Discussed Tonight

Problems of the Ellsworth School district, a strictly elementary school area, will be aired at a public meeting tonight at 8 in the Ellsworth School.

The Ellsworth district faces a tuition problem because of the state law which specifies residents will have to pay total tuition costs of its students attending other high schools by year 1959. The state has been paying all but about 1 1/2 mills of the district.

When residents are required to pay the total costs in 1959, the tax levy might rise to nine or ten mills, officials predict.

A solution would be the consolidation of Ellsworth with a district which has a high school.

However, five districts which surround Ellsworth have high school facilities, including Berlin Center, Greenford, Jackson-Milton, Mahoning Local and Canfield.

The idea of a consolidation may come up at tonight's meeting, although W. C. Smith, Mahoning County superintendent of schools, said today that to be a success a consolidation must have the approval of district residents. He will attend the meeting.

Tonight's meeting will be the first public session scheduled. Jay Rudolph is superintendent of the Ellsworth School.

Massillon Man To Take Over Duties Nov. 1

Dr. C.S. Palmer Named To County Health Post

LISBON — Dr. Clarence S. Palmer of Massillon is the new Columbiana county health commissioner.

The Massillon doctor, at present health commissioner in that city, has signed a two-year contract and will begin his new duties here Nov. 1. His salary will be $13,500 a year.

Dr. Palmer, a practicing surgeon in the Stark County city for 23 years, will fill the county health commissioner vacancy which has existed here for the past year.

The vacancy was caused by the discharge last summer of Dr. J. S. Rummel, formerly of Hawthorne, N.J.

Dr. Palmer, who is 67, was born in Boone County, Ky., and is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati. He was a resident surgeon at Bethesda Hospital in Cincinnati for four years. He married the former Corinne Schafly and they have two sons, Thomas, age 34, a graduate of Bethany College, and George, 21, who is assistant manager of Woolworth 5 and 10 store in Wooster.

Dr. Palmer practiced in Beach City (Stark county) for 12 years before moving to Massillon in 1932. He was surgeon at Massillon City Hospital and was chief surgeon for seven years for the 250-bed hospital. He has been Massillon's health commissioner since 1952.

Active in the Kiwanis Club, he was state Kiwanis governor in 1949 and spoke several times in this district.

In 1954 he was president of City Public League Association of Ohio and also has held several offices in the Ohio Public Health Association.

2 Ohio Counties To Receive Aid

Farms Ruled Disaster Areas By President

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has designated eight Ohio counties as disaster areas, making them eligible for federal financial help.

The White House said Tuesday that Gov. Frank J. Lausche has been notified of the action and that Secretary of Agriculture Benson will determine the extent and nature of the federal assistance.

The Agriculture Department said the disaster designation will permit eligible stockmen in the counties to participate in the government's emergency livestock feed grain program. Lausche had asked that 33 counties be designated.

Counties included in the program are Ashtabula, Geauga, Mahoning, Lake, Trumbull, Portage, Stark and Wayne.

No specific amount was set aside for Ohio. That will be done later. The announcement represented a change in the position previously taken by Agriculture Department officials. Last week, K. L. Scott, director of credit services for the department, said northeast Ohio did not qualify to be classified as a "disaster area."

Sen. George Bender (R-Ohio) came to Washington Saturday and asked the department to reverse this position.

Under the feed program, stockmen may obtain feed grains at price reductions of $1.50 per hundred pounds to help them maintain basic livestock herds.

Like Cites Perils Of Halting Tests

Says Russia Mustn't Get H-Bomb Lead

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Tuesday night the United States could "suffer a serious military disadvantage" if it stopped its tests of nuclear weapons and then found that Russia was continuing hers.

Without naming his Democratic opponent Adlai E. Stevenson, Eisenhower said that one of Stevenson's contentions in the campaign debate over continued bomb testing "is based upon apparent unawareness of the facts."

Eisenhower issued his second formal reply to Stevenson's repeated calls for this nation to take the lead in working toward an end to hydrogen bomb testing.

While rejecting Stevenson's arguments, the President said he remains "profoundly hopeful" that a properly safeguarded system of world disarmament will come to pass. But until that comes, he declared:

"We must continue . . . to develop our strength in the most advanced weapons — for the sake of our own national safety, for the sake of all free nations, for the sake of peace itself. . . .

Need Sound Safeguards
"There is nothing in postwar history to justify the belief that we should — or even that we could dare — accept anything less than sound safeguards and controls for any disarmament arrangements."

On another point raised by Democratic campaigners, Eisenhower said big business has lost, rather than gained, under his administration.

In a speech Tuesday night at the 75th anniversary banquet of the carpenters union, Eisenhower said if his administration were guilty of favoring big business, as charged, "I am sure big business would assert we have failed miserably."

"I give you two interesting facts," he said. "During the years 1946 to 1952, inclusive, corporate profits — after taxes — averaged 7.7 per cent of the national income. During the period since 1953 when this administration entered office, corporate profits — after taxes — have averaged 6.0 per cent of the national income."

"While this has been going on, labor's share of the national income has risen progressively. It is now 70 per cent, the highest in the last 20 years."

The President's main theme was that Polish Communists' efforts to move out of the Moscow orbit prove that once-free peoples eventually will throw off despotism. He said American labor has a part to play in helping guide

Soviet Troops, Tanks, Planes Go Into Action

Casualties Mounting As Hungarians Seek Ouster Of Russians

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Soviet troops and tanks went into action today to help Hungary's Communists put down an open popular rebellion against Moscow domination.

Sending of planes into the fighting was reported late today by the Budapest radio.

Direct telephonic communication with the city was cut off, but it was evident that casualties in the fighting were mounting by the score. A westerner who reached Warsaw after traveling from Budapest said 150 persons were reported to have been killed when Russian tanks were brought into fighting outside the Hungarian Parliament building.

Russian tanks by the dozens were reported rolling through the streets and firing on blazing buildings. Budapest radio reported "numerous soldiers, citizens and members of the security forces" were slain in wild, riotous fighting which burgeoned from peaceful demonstrations against Moscow Tuesday night. The revolt dwarfed the anti-Russian demonstrations in satellite Poland.

Captured Machinery Plant
Budapest radio announced soldiers had captured a machinery plant where rebels held out for three hours. It appealed to wives and trade unions to dissuade men from joining the demonstrations.

Indicating the fighting still was raging into this afternoon in the city of more than a million, the new government of Premier Imre Nagy extended an ultimatum zero hour for surrender of the rebels.

In an apparent gesture of appeasement to the rebels, Communist leaders had removed Andras Hegedus as premier and installed Nagy, who was purged in 1955. All through the night students, workers, off-duty soldiers and others shouted for Nagy as premier and demanded the expulsion of Soviet troops from Hungary. But when the Communist government gave in to the demands for Nagy, apparently the rebels were not to be appeased without some indication the Russians would get out.

"Russkies Go Home"
The cry "Russkies go home" mingled with machinegun fire near a statue of Stalin that young workers tried to topple.

Today's accounts of the fighting came from the official Budapest radio and from travelers who reached the Austrian frontier. Direct telephonic communication with Budapest was cut off after Andre Marton, AP correspondent there, gave a detailed account of the early hours of the uprisings.

He issued a surrender ultimatum to the rebels to put down their arms by 2 p.m. (7 a.m. CST). He promised them full amnesty if they would do this, and promised to carry out the program he laid down when he was premier in 1953 — more consumer goods and less heavy industry.

Deadline Extended
Later, despite Budapest radio claims that "more and more of the counter-revolutionaries are giving up," the surrender deadline was extended to 6 p.m.

The government radio, laying the revolt to "counter-revolutionary gangs," reported great damage was done to Budapest. Shots and screams were heard

Atty. H. W. Hammond, Former Probate Judge, Dies At 70

COLUMBIANA — Former Columbiana County Probate Judge Homer W. Hammond, 70, of 229 S. Main St., died of a heart ailment at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday at Salem City Hospital. He had been ill two weeks.

An attorney for 46 years, he was born in Madison Township, June 6, 1886, the son of George Howard and Anna Knepper Hammond. He married Elizabeth Shingler Dec. 24, 1913.

A graduate of Lisbon High School and Ohio Northern University, he was a member of the American Bar Association, Ohio State Bar Association and Columbiana County Bar Association.

Judge Hammond was a charter member of the Columbiana Rotary Club with a perfect attendance of 24 years. A past president of the club, he was active in crippled children's work in the county. He was affiliated with the Odd Fellows lodge and Knights of Py-

Rush Work To Meet Basketball Season

Bids To Be Opened Oct. 30 For New Gymnasium Floor

Bids on construction of a new gym floor in Salem High School to replace the one ruined by water in August will be opened at noon Tuesday, Oct. 30, in the offices of the Board of Education, Darrell Fadely, school business manager, said today.

Fadely said seven local and district contractors have been asked to bid on the project.

Specifications for the new gym were drawn up by the board's architects, Fulton, Krinsky and DeLaMotte of Cleveland. The specifications call for a floor of the same general type as will be in the new Salem senior high school which will be started next year, Fadely said.

Little time remains for the construction of the new floor. Fadely said he hopes the gym will be ready by Nov. 30, which is shortly before Salem's 1956-57 basketball season begins.

Arrangements are being made for John Cabas' team to practice at the more spacious Fourth St. School gym, in case the high school gym is not ready in time.

Old Age Pension Rolls Declining

More Men, Women
Get Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP)—A basic shift is taking place in the pattern of federal and state care for older persons.

Records of the Social Security Administration showed today that more and more men and women in the older age brackets are receiving assistance in the form of Old-age and Survivors Insurance—better known as Social Security payments.

At the same time, the proportion of elderly people on state old age pension rolls is diminishing.

One Social Security administration official says the trend is expected to be accentuated by the broadening and liberalizing of the Social Security laws.

"Social security is not directly taking people of the old-age pension rolls," he explained.

"What is happening is this: More and more, as people reach the age of 65, they are eligible to receive old age and survivors benefits under the Social Security program, and thus do not go on the pension rolls. The result is, that year after year, the old-age pension rolls in most states are dwindling."

The records bear this out. In December 1954, 388 of each 1,000 persons aged 65 or over were receiving Social Security benefits while 183 were on state old age pension rolls.

In June of this year, the number of each 1,000 getting Social Security payments had risen to 462. The number receiving old-age pensions, financed in part by the states and federal government, had dropped to 173.

Old age pension payments in recent years have ranged from $90 to $28. Maximum Social Security benefits are $108 a month for one individual, with a minimum of $30 a month.

The last Congress broadened the federal law to make widows eligible for Social Security benefits at 62, instead of 65, and also provided benefits for totally disabled persons at age 50.

In Ohio, as of last June, there were 491 Social Security holders and 119 state pensioners per 1,000 of population 65 or over.

Unique Chapel - Library Ministers to Whole Man

Sculptured figures on face of tower are, from top, Milton, Leibnitz and Bach, symbolic of the cultural heritage of Christianity. On the chapel side, Paul, Augustine and Luther symbolize man's best thinking on Christian truth.

The recently dedicated chapel and library at Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio, are under one roof, a unique arrangement which emphasizes the partnership of college, church and the arts in Wittenberg's educational program. Detached tower, 212 feet high, left, bears sculptured figures symbolic of the cultural and spiritual heritage of Christianity. Visitors to the Weaver Memorial Chapel, below, see this magnificent vista as they enter the nave. The library, on lower three floors of the building, seats 350-400 and has space for 200,000 books.

Focus of attention in Weaver Memorial Chapel is the floor-to-ceiling red dossal curtain before which an 11-foot-high cross is suspended over the massive altar of Italian marble. The huge mural, which decorates the chancel arch, measures 46 by 40 feet and is painted on unprimed orlon. It re-creates the story of the Bible in vigorous fashion, yet is reminiscent of fresco painting of early church art.

Rare Surgery On Man's Heart Fails

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 25-year-old pressman, whose family said he was offered blood by Clevelanders "by the hundreds," died on an operating table Tuesday night after surgeons worked for eight hours to open a choked artery leading from his heart.

Doctors said the pressman, Louis M. Dory, could not have lived more than six months if the operation had not been attempted. It was the first time such an operation ever had been tried here.

The coroner will perform an autopsy to determine the cause of death. The coroner's verdict is required because Dory was involved in an automobile accident last March. At that time he was released after treatment at City Hospital, but he was taken to Mt. Sinai Hospital later after the artery condition was discovered.

His case was brought to the attention of the public three weeks ago when an appeal was made for 30 pints of the rare type A negative blood. In addition to the calls received by the family, there were 35 persons on hand at the hospital Tuesday, ready to donate blood if necessary.

Dory leaves his wife, Sally, who expects a child in February; their son, Michael, one year; his father, Carl Dory Sr., of Weirton, W. Va.; a brother, Carl Jr., of Clarksburg, W. Va.; and two sisters who live here.

Woman Denied Damages In $120,000 Lawsuit

CLEVELAND (AP)—A jury of six men and six women Tuesday denied damages to Mrs. Jane Balista Bush, 32, of Warren, who had filed a $120,000 suit against Robert C. Long of Phalanx Station in the traffic death of her husband, Avis Balista.

During the trial, witnesses testified Long's truck had rammed into the rear of Balista's parked automobile in Broadview Heights Oct. 5, 1953.

The witnesses said Balista climbed truck to ask Long's address and ended up on the running board of the truck when Long started the truck and drove away. Balista was thrown under a wheel.

Long said he drove off because he believed Balista and two companions were going to attack him.

United Auto Workers sought to represent about 1,500 plant workers.

Columbiana Legion Veterans Day Scheduled For Nov. 10

COLUMBIANA — Two new members, George Hayes Jr., and Martin Lantzendorfer, were obligated at the meeting of Firestone American Legion Post at Valley Golf Club Monday evening.

The post membership for the Legion year, which began July 1, is now 222 toward its quota of 253, which the post aims to reach by Veterans Day, Nov. 11.

Veterans day this year will be observed with a banquet, sponsored by Firestone Post, at 7 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 10, at Heck's Restaurant.

All civic groups have been invited, including the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Kiwanis, Rotary and Booster Clubs and the Chamber of Commerce.

Howard Kingdom of Conneaut, past state commander of the Legion, will be the speaker. He is a candidate for national commander within the next couple of years.

Harold Armstrong, president of the Chamber of Commerce, is chairman of the committee on arrangements. Tickets may be obtained by members of participating groups for themselves and wives or lady friends from the chairman at Lehman Hardware, or at the Legion or V.F.W. home.

JOHN HENRY of Ahrensberg, Finland, sponsored by the Youngstown Rotary Club as a student at Youngstown College, and David Gazale, a new arrival in the U.S. from Jordan, where he was a refugee from Palestine, were presented as speakers at the meeting of the Rotary Club Monday evening by Don Leonard, program chairman.

The Finnish student related some of the history of his country, which has been subject at different times to both Sweden and Russia. Finland, he said, has the highest percentage in the world of literacy of its population, which is 94 per cent. Lutheran. Wood products are its principal industry, the country being 65 per cent forest. Finland distrusts Russia as much as does the U.S., he said.

Gazale was in the employ of oil companies in Jordan before his arrival in the U.S. three months ago. He told of the distress inseparable from developments in the Middle East, and plans to make the U.S. his home, and to bring his wife and three children next year.

The club had its first perfect attendance in several years at its meeting the previous Monday evening. Visiting Rotarians this week were: J. E. Torbert of Sebring, Harry Gertz of Alliance, Chris Deichert of Youngstown, and the Rev. William Snowball, Glen Broomall and Scott McCorkhill, of Salem.

Mayor Erwood Calvin, program chairman for next Monday evening, announced that the subject will be "4134 Empty Shoes," but did not elaborate.

COLUMBIANA Kiwanians observed ladies night with a masquerade party at Midway Grange Monday. A film, "Ohio, U.S.A.," will be shown at the meeting at Heck's Monday evening.

A masquerade skating party was given at Kelly's Park rink Monday evening by Mrs. Glenn Shasteen's troop of senior Girl Scouts, sponsored by Firestone American Legion Post Auxiliary. One hundred and seventy were present, all the Girl Scout and Brownie troops in town participating.

Prizes awarded Girl Scouts went to Nancy Campbell, Mary Oehler, Suzanne Karcher and Sue Dickens. Brownie Scout winners were Kathy McNab, Linda Detwiler, Sandra Arbuckle and Roberta Blackburn.

The party was a benefit for the sponsoring troop, which cleared $33.50.

Tomorrow will be fall clean-up day in Columbiana when street department trucks will haul away rubbish that has been put in containers.

Columbiana Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club is sponsoring the organization of a new Brownie Scout troop. All girls interested in joining and their mothers are requested to meet at Joshua Dixon School at 3:15 p.m. tomorrow.

No national borders separate Sweden and Finland. People of both countries are free to come and go as they please.

CONVICTED OF DESERTING.—U. S. Army Pvt. Philip E. Morand, 42, of Dallas, Tex., has been convicted by army court martial of deserting to the Communists in 1948. He was sentenced to five years imprisonment and a dishonorable discharge from service. Morand, who left his post at Linz, Austria, on Nov. 6, 1948, said he became fed up with Communism in 1951. He surrendered to army authorities in Berlin last August.

Bank Closes Suddenly, Customers Exit Fast

PORT HURON, Mich. (AP)—The Thomas Street branch of the Michigan National Bank closed suddenly with all 14 customers rushing into the street with tears in their eyes.

Tear gas nozzles over the four cashiers cages turned on just before closing time, filling the bank with the irritating fog. Bank officials have not been able to determine why the anti-robbery system suddenly started.

Only one customer, Joyce Ceila of nearby Emmett, was hospitalized, and doctors at the Port Huron General Hospital said she was not seriously hurt.

Never before in history has anything built by man traveled so far in so short a time —by land or sea!

An announcement of decisive importance to anyone about to buy a new automobile

The most exhaustive endurance test ever given an automobile has just been completed by two stock '57 Fords—identical in every respect with cars now being offered by Ford Dealers.

Under supervision of the United States Auto Club and the Federation Internationale de Automobile, each of these two '57 Fords traveled 50,000 miles in less than 20 days. Ford No. 1 averaged 108.16 mph for the entire run . . . Ford No. 2, over 107 mph. These averages include time for all pit stops.

In all, the '57 Ford smashed 458 national and international records.

This test was run on the Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah . . . it was the longest left turn in history.

A car, like a man, is known by its deeds, not words.

That is why, we at Ford, despite our confidence in our '57 cars, let their deeds of accomplishment speak for themselves.

We wanted them to prove to you—in action—the stamina and performance we had built into them. No words of ours could speak with equal conviction.

Therefore, we engaged an independent engineering organization to test our '57 cars more thoroughly than any other cars have ever been tested before—in this country or abroad.

We provided them with '57 Fords—cars identical with those now offered by Ford Dealers. The rest we left up to them.

Here is what they did:

They took these cars to the Salt Flats at Bonneville, Utah. Here, twelve of the world's greatest drivers took over.

In relays they drove these cars night and day for a distance greater than twice around the world . . . a distance equal to 5 years of normal driving.

Not in all history has a man-built machine traveled so far in so short a time—by land or sea!

But this was not a test of speed—but of endurance of the "Inner Ford." A trial to take the measure of Thunderbird Y-block V-8 power without qualification of any kind. A test of running gear—of brakes, of materials in body and chassis. Of steering and roadability, yes, and comfort, too!

A test, indeed, such as no cars have ever undergone, let alone successfully concluded.

We feel that by their deeds, you shall know the '57 Ford cars. Surely they have told you, in decisive terms, that they are worth more when you buy . . . and when you sell!

Your Ford Dealer will gladly place at your disposal the new kind of Ford that means a new kind of value for your car—buying dollar—the greatest the world has ever seen.

For County Offices

Straight ticket voting frequently is abandoned where local politics is concerned. The candidates' qualifications, rather than party affiliations, are taken into consideration by serious-minded voters.

This is as it should be, with the increasing complexities of government demanding more efficient operation.

With this in mind, we submit for our readers' consideration those whom we feel best qualified for the offices they seek in the Columbiana County races. The recommendations follow:

Prosecuting Attorney

Robert S. Hartford of East Palestine, a Democrat. Mr. Hartford, who began the practice of law in 1948, demonstrated his ability as a defense attorney during the East Liverpool police burglary trials before the grand jury at Lisbon this past summer.

He displayed a keen understanding of the law and rose in stature in legal circles through an outstanding performance. In contrast, his opponent, G. William Brokaw of East Liverpool, failed to display the legal know-how that had been expected. In addition to his law practice Mr. Hartford served as East Palestine city solicitor from 1948 through 1955.

County Commissioners

Walter A. Hunston of East Palestine and W. A. Southan of East Liverpool, both Republicans. A sincere effort to meet the obligations of their office at all times and an earnestness in tackling all problems — big or small — make them logical choices to remain in the commissioner posts.

Sheriff

Russell J. VanFossan of East Palestine, a Republican. Both Mr. VanFossan and his Democratic opponent, Albert E. Kittredge of East Liverpool, possess qualities which indicate the sheriff's office will be in competent hands, regardless of the winner.

However, Mr. VanFossan's first-hand knowledge of the operation of the office through his service as chief deputy seems to overshadow whatever advantage Mr. Kittredge might claim in overall experience in police work.

County Treasurer

Vincent C. Judge of Lisbon, a Democrat. Mr. Judge has provided an efficient, well-managed office. His earlier experience in banking goes well with his duties as treasurer.

His opponent is Richard G. Brian, a Republican of East Liverpool who manages a clothing store. There seems no logical reason for making a change in an office already in good hands.

Coroner

William A. Kolozsi of Salem, a Democrat. State law now recognizes the desirability of medical doctors in this post by making it mandatory that any person seeking the office for the first time must be an "MD."

Dr. Kolozsi meets this qualification. A pathologist, he has been director of the laboratory at Salem City Hospital for the last two years. He also spent seven years in the U.S. Public Health Service.

With all due respect to his Republican opponent and present coroner, Ernest Sturgis of East Liverpool, Dr. Kolozsi, as a qualified "MD," appears to be the proper choice.

Clerk of Courts

John W. Coleman of East Liverpool, a Republican. Mr. Coleman has performed his duties satisfactorily and on the basis of this record should be returned to office.

County Recorder

Mrs. Frances W. Morton of Wellsville, a Republican. Mrs. Morton, also an incumbent, is another deserving of a new term on the basis of performance.

True To Form

The International Longshoremen's Association, it will be noted in the vast region to be affected by the St. Lawrence seaway, again has won a bargaining election in the port of New York.

The rival AFL-CIO union — International Brotherhood of Longshoremen — has failed to dislodge ILA, just as in two previous attempts the AFL failed to dislodge ILA before the AFL-CIO merger.

This means the St. Lawrence region has inherited the problem of the ILA's notorious corruption — corruption so flagrant and bold that the AFL, its long-time sponsor, finally had to go to the mat with it.

But like a spoiled child who has gone too long without discipline, the ILA was stronger than its guardian when the showdown came. At the climax of its latest campaign to keep its stranglehold on the port of New York, it republished statements of praise made by President George Meany of AFL-CIO in happier days — a powerful argument in its defense — powerful enough to help it win by a vote of 11,827 to 7,428, the widest margin of victory in three showdowns.

Success tip to starlets: Have at least one picture that's a bust.

Moderation Forgotten

Campaign Exaggerations Reaching All Time Lows

Present-day politics must inevitably cause many of its practitioners to hang their heads in shame. For campaigning today seems to be devoid of morality. It has gone so far in the widespread use of deceptions and untruths, as a means of seeking to win votes, that the American people may well wonder why the politicians think the majority of the voters have so little intelligence as to believe these misrepresentations.

Before the presidential campaign began there was pious talk about "moderation." Gradually it has become apparent that former President Truman, the champion of the "give 'em hell" technique, has dominated the style and strategy of the Democratic nominee, Adlai Stevenson.

The Republican spokesmen, too, have fallen victims to the strategy and have tried to return arguments in kind. The cries of outraged provocation—"he hit me first"—all ways lead to more charges and countercharges.

ADLAI STEVENSON has made the basis of his campaign an innuendo that there's some kind of crooked relationship between the Eisenhower administration and "big business." Yet he himself, in an article in "Fortune" magazine in October 1955, complained that "It became part of the ritual of New Deal politics to castigate a business system that has always been recognized by Americans as the only permanent source of the jobs and consumer purchasing power which the government was trying to restore."

Even today Mr. Stevenson says now and then a kindly word for big business enterprises as such, but nevertheless conveys the impression that there is a crooked partnership between the administration and big business men.

The political objective, of course, is to imply corruption and dishonesty and to convey the idea that the administration is crooked through and through. This type of campaigning, of which Kefauverism is a shocking example, shows no sign of abatement as election day draws near.

Mr. Stevenson lately has been blaming the "tight money" situation on the present administration when he knows very well that the Federal Reserve Board, which fixes money rates, is not a part of the administration but is a non-political body set up by the banks of the nation as provided by a law passed under a Democratic administration.

Before President Eisenhower came into office—in fact, until the last year of the Truman administration—the Treasury Department did interfere and meddle in the fixing of interest rates.

NOW THAT the Treasury has refrained in the last few years from doing what it should never have done anyway, Mr. Stevenson attempts to make this a political issue and blames Mr. Eisenhower for this anti-inflation restraint called "tight money."

Does this mean that, if elected, Mr. Stevenson would subject the Federal Reserve Board to political pressure?

Mr. Stevenson is not the only demagogue in the campaign. Gov. Harriman speaks recklessly and blames President Eisenhower for not having endowed Col. Nasser with a conscience and the men in the Kremlin with a sense of morality.

Another example is this comment in a recent speech by Mr. Stevenson: "They (the Republicans) at their convention deliberately and dramatically threw Joe Smith—American—out, and put Richard Nixon—Republican—in."

The innuendo that a Republican is not an American is one that savors a bit of the "party of treason" stuff that the Stevenson camp has been criticizing. So presumably it will be said that this is an answer in kind.

PERHAPS THE MOST glaring misstatement came from Mr. Stevenson the other day, when, calling for the election of a Democratic Congress, he proclaimed solemnly at Flint, Mich.: "We Democrats are not a house divided." Here is bland indifference to the fact that the Democratic party of the South helped to wreck the federal aid-to-education bill and certainly will block a civil rights bill in the Senate.

The Democratic speakers, on the other hand, can point to Republican misrepresentations, too. It is not a fact, for instance, as some Republican orators claim, that the Democratic party caused both World War I and World War II or had the primary responsibility for the outbreak of the war in Korea. Always, of course, some phases of American policy have had an influence on world events, but to claim that any party in the United States deliberately plunged America into any war in this century is really a distortion of the truth.

THE REPUBLICANS try to justify their comments on war by contending that the Democrats shouldn't boast about high employment as a normal thing during their tenure, when it was accomplished for the most part through wartime expenditures.

The worst deception, however, is in connection with Adlai Stevenson's speeches on the H-bomb tests and the draft. Reports from different parts of the country indicate that many women voters may have been led to believe that, if Mr. Stevenson is elected, he will abolish the H-bomb and end the draft.

Yet this comes under the head of campaigning. Expediency, misrepresentation, innuendo, guilt by association, anything to get elected—all these are the characteristics of the present campaign.

It looks as if 1956 will establish some kind of record for unfairness and unmoral partisanship.

Undecided Voters

By DAVID BARNETT

Who are the "undecided" voters who might tip the balance in November's elections?

Not even the people whose business is winning elections know for sure. But discussions with research personnel of the Republican and Democratic campaign committee indicate:

Uncommitted voters now make up about 15 per cent of the total who will cast ballots.

Many are women, but the number of "undecided" is pretty well spread out among the various economic and social levels of society.

The percentage of persons with low educational levels is larger in the undecided group than in the population in general.

Discussions show that few among running this year's campaign follow strictly "Farley's Law," enunciated by James A. Farley, the mastermind of the Franklin D. Roosevelt campaigns: it states: Voters do not change their minds during the last few weeks of a campaign.

Farley's law took a beating along with professional pollsters in the 1948 campaign.

The pollsters followed their usual practice of dividing undecided voters between the two candidates in the same proportion as that indicated by decided voters.

Studies after the election showed that 75 per cent of the undecided voters went to President Truman.

Post-election studies also indicated that polls often underestimate the number of "undecided." If in the "undecided" group you include persons who change their minds back and forth during the campaign.

Campaign committees of both parties make extensive use of the results of public-opinion polls. But they increase substantially the percentages of undecided noted by the pollsters. The 15 per cent estimate is about twice the figure given by most of the polls.

Among Democrats, the consensus seems to be that the farm vote is pretty well set. One official noted that a special poll in a midwestern state showed only 4 per cent of the farmers undecided. Although he refused to divulge the over-all results of the poll, which was taken for the party, he revealed that the undecided in other segments of the population ran as high as 20 per cent.

A member of the Republican research team noted that it was extremely difficult to "pin-point" the undecided in such a way as to make the information useful in the campaign.

SIDE GLANCES

Getaway -- But Still Stuck With the Ball and Chain

The Courage Of Secretary Benson

By RAYMOND MOLEY

It may well be, when the Eisenhower years are written in permanent history, that the outstanding figure other than the President will be his embattled secretary of agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson.

The most reviled in the years just passed may be the most honored in years to come. History has a way of playing such pranks. For the ultimate score concerns not only wars and crimes and the frailties of men, but justice and courage and the rewards of virtue.

Moreover, it may be written of President Eisenhower that he pitied his judgment against the expedient in his own party — the farmers he tried to serve, and the hue and cry of the opposition — and lived to see confidence justified.

Perhaps what has won the President to this stubborn support of Mr. Benson is not so much a matter of knowledge of the complexities of the farm problem as his belief in the character and integrity of his subordinate.

Mr. Benson has been a missionary all his adult life. First, in behalf of his chosen religion, later in support of the idea of farm cooperatives, and finally as a public official in standing firmly for a permanent solution of a great national problem. Both Henry Wallace and Ezra Taft Benson are deeply religious men. But there the similarity ends.

Mr. Wallace as secretary of agriculture revealed himself as a mystic, seeking elusive truth down hidden pathways. Mr. Benson is a true missionary, meeting the world head on and tirelessly laboring to impart his faith to others.

He has prepared, presumably for the purposes of this campaign, a little book, "Farmers at the Crossroads," published this month by Devin-Adair, which not only expresses his great moral fervor for a self-reliant agriculture, but sets forth in simple terms the nature and methods of treatment of that many-sided subject which we call the "farm problem."

When Mr. Benson took on "the toughest job any secretary of agriculture ever faced," he found the concept of a regimented farm economy well entrenched in the vast bureaucracy of his department and also in the thinking of many farmers and their leaders.

For years the department had been infested with people who never believed in anything but the "socialization" of everything, including agriculture.

The idea that the principles of a free economy and a free market might apply to farming had almost vanished not only within the department but in Congress as well.

Mr. Benson does not deny that the farmer must have some government protection against drastic price fluctuations, drought and other hazards against which even the most prudent is helpless. But he is determined also that the farmer shall not, because of government help, become a ward of the state, a man set apart as a prisoner within a nation which stands before the world as an exponent of liberty.

When he took over the department he found an agricultural economy which had suffered the buffets not only of two wars but of an internal revolution.

With the end of the Korean war, the agricultural economy staggered under huge surpluses and falling income. These he believed to be the inevitable result not of government meddling with artificially propped-up prices and, consequently, excessive production. He knew well, because he had lived through it, the nature of an agricultural revolution which had swept the country over past decades.

Fifty years ago a farmer raised enough for himself and 19 others. Farm population over the past 15 years has declined 27 per cent, while production has been rising at a sharp rate.

His firm belief that high rigid supports would only create greater and greater surpluses and result in bigger and bigger subsidies was never shaken.

Despite the advice of faint-hearted politicians to take the path of expedience and let the Democratic 84th Congress have its way, he strongly advised the President to veto the Democratic farm bill, and the President following his advice.

The President was willing to face the great and solemn referendum of an election after having denied what a great proportion of Republican farmers wanted and what many of the senators and representatives of his own party had voted for.

Over the long haul he believed, with his secretary of agriculture, that there were sound cures for surpluses which could be applied with efficiency and ultimate success.

The goal may not be near, but, with Mr. Benson, the President believes the government is headed in the right direction.

Conversation Piece

By TRUMAN TWILL

A long-felt need has been satisfied by a writing lady known as Emily Hahn with a book on spousery. Many of us who think we are lovingly happy though married are glad to see spousery put into print.

Spousery — the art of being a spouse — has nothing to do with the classical image of wedded bliss that begins when she says, "I do," and ends when everybody says, "He sure looks natural, doesn't he?"

It is a state of mind that experts would describe as objectivity about marriage. Objectivity is what married people need and often cannot find when they quit whispering baby-talk and begin to ask who left the cap off the toothpaste tube.

That is when the chips go down. That is when marriages made in heaven start to skid in the other direction.

That is when the bride goes home to mother, and the groom makes harsh cracks about having been bear-trapped.

Wife Hahn writes with tongue in cheek but she has some ideas about spousery that no knowledgeable married person will shrug off. Such as conversation.

"The average couple is already well on the road to verbal bankruptcy by the wedding day," she points out. "People don't get around to marrying until they have already swapped opinions on everything and told their best anecdotes."

Therefore, a wise spouse must keep pushing back the conversational horizons, so there will be something to talk about.

Last night the two spouses I know most about were yacking it up over the Suez Canal, which is what is known as a news topic. She was surprised at how much I knew about this waterway. So was I.

The night before, we were hitting it off at a good clip about the consistent lardiness and lumpiness of the female models whose grossly overweight bodies, piano legs and jowly faces appealed to the artists who painted classical portraits of nudes in the old days. We were trying to decide what was appealing about a lot of meaty backs who today would be in demand only for the Before and After ads showing how Susie Bloop dropped 86 pounds and now is fighting off the men.

We used up one whole evening hashing over the pros and cons of Don Larsen's no-windup delivery, a matter on which we both could speak freely because neither of us could throw a tennis ball through an open barn door from 20 feet out with the wind at our back.

There always are subjects like existentialism, which no one understands, whether or not there is such a thing as altruism, what the impact of on-the-spot TV interviews will be on awareness of current events, the resemblance between Elvis Presley and Rudy Valley, who was the boy threat of his day, the possibility that foreign aid and international dumping of trade surpluses are more closely related than you might think and what the Duke and Duchess of Windsor have been talking about since they decided to make a lifetime career of spousery.

This gives you an idea why Emily Hahn's book on a neglected subject should find ready acceptance. Spousery, when you work at it, is enough to give you laryngitis.

So They Say

They (the GOP) have been reading books. I noticed they even have a man in the administration who has written a book. There's no telling where this thing may end.—Adlai Stevenson says the Republicans have organized an "egg-head" drive.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The Frightened Voter Speaks

Elmer Twitchell says he may not vote at all. "Why not?" we demanded. "I'm too scared."

"Scared by what?" we asked.

"By the campaign speeches this season," he said. "One candidate cries that the earth can be tilted sixteen degrees off its axis unless his party is chosen, and H-bomb experiments ended."

"The world has been off its axis for the last twenty years," we assured him. "And sixteen degrees ain't nuthin' in view of what's happening to it."

"It seems that way," said Elmer, "but this is the first time any political candidate has run on the global tilt issue, and it's alarming. Estes has come out with an anti-tilt program. His slogan is 'Vote for the Democrats and keep the earth on the axis to which you have become accustomed!'"

"You look frightened," we said. "I didn't know any voter was so interested in the axis issue. I thought this 'claim a tilt' routine was limited to pinball machine players."

"I had never worried much about the earth's axis," Elmer admitted, "and had gone all through life feeling certain the world would stay on it in accordance with the blueprints. The horror stories by candidates on both sides had me nervous, but this warning of a big tilt is too much."

"WHAT'S A LITTLE sixteen degree tilt in times like these?" we asked.

"A 'tilted earth' can make everything lopsided," said Twitchell. "I feel off center already. In fact last night I found myself leaning twenty-five degrees to starboard unassisted, while in the past I needed a lamp post."

"If you tilt everybody else will tilt," we said. "So why worry?"

"Estes will insist that the Republicans tilt more than the Democrats," he sobbed. "But it ain't the tilted earth issue along that makes me so jittery. The Democratic candidates tell me all small businesses are doomed, big business is bad for the country, nobody is getting any tax relief but millionaires, all the farms may have to be converted into golf ranges if the people don't vote right, and the General we trusted to win a world war lacks leadership!"

"The Republicans say that if elected they will see that the earth doesn't tilt on its axis, but they claim that if Adlai and Estes take over it will render the United States helpless, invite Russia to knock us off, send the value of the dollar down to 10 cents, bring back Alger Hiss, ruined the batting form of Yogi Berra, make Eleanor Roosevelt Secretary of State and lengthen the hurricane season."

WE TOLD ELMER he was in a bad way and should stop listening to so many speeches. "Absurd claims have always been made in presidential campaigns," we said.

"There's never been anything like the claims in this one," snapped Elmer, shaking visibly. "I'm afraid millions of voters will be such nervous wrecks from the speeches that they won't be able to get to a polling place, unless accompanied by their doctors."

TV'S TELECAST of the Andrea Doria-Stockholm crash was more harrowing, we thought than the recent Titanic telecast. . . .

The inquiry into the crash has been going on for many weeks, but it seems to this corner that speed was chiefly responsible. . . .

Stevenson Accuses Ike of 'Snuggling Intimacy' Toward Business 'Giants'

NEW YORK (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said today the Eisenhower administration has "confused genuine friendship for business with snuggling intimacy toward a few of its giants."

"We Democrats . . . reject the idea of an America in which everyone is on the payroll of a few giant corporations," he declared in a speech prepared for a luncheon of businessmen supporters.

The Democratic presidential nominee contended, at the start of 12-hour schedule of rallies in the city and surrounding counties, that because of Republican policies small business is being "squeezed by the growing giants, buffeted by the merger movement, strangled by high interest rates . . ."

Stevenson's shift to discussion of Republican economic actions came after a whip-cracking assault on President Eisenhower's foreign policies, and on Secretary of State Dulles and Vice President Nixon, before a cheering throng in Madison Square Garden Tuesday night.

The partisan, banner-waving crowd filled all seats affording a view of the speaker. Democratic leaders said 18,000 were on hand. Several hundred seats, blocked off by platform installations, remained empty. None were turned away as in 1952 when Stevenson spoke in the Garden.

The crowd alternately cheered sallies against Eisenhower and boomed mention of Dulles and Nixon.

Stevenson himself had drawn some scattered boos among the cheers from a small crowd of bystanders as he left his hotel to drive to the Garden. But the audience in the hall gave him one of the biggest welcomes of his campaign.

Introducing Stevenson, Gov. Averell Harriman supported the nominee's proposal for ending hydrogen bomb tests. He said Eisenhower, in his opposition to the proposal, had "fallen into the Kremlin propaganda trap."

Certified laboratory tests prove Bell's tablets neutralize 3 times as much stomach acidity in one minute as many leading digestive tablets. Get Bell's today for the fastest known relief. 25¢.

In the raucous atmosphere of an old-time political meeting updated for television, Stevenson took off the gloves.

He said Eisenhower showed "resentment" that he should be held accountable for actions of his administration.

When he called Nixon Eisenhower's "hand-picked heir" who had been "subjected to a remarkable process of face-lifting and hand-laundering," the crowd broke in with a thunderous "boo."

Stevenson suggested that Eisenhower was offering the country "a press agent's peace." He accused Dulles of "blundering vacillation" in the Middle East, contending it resulted in the Suez Canal crisis.

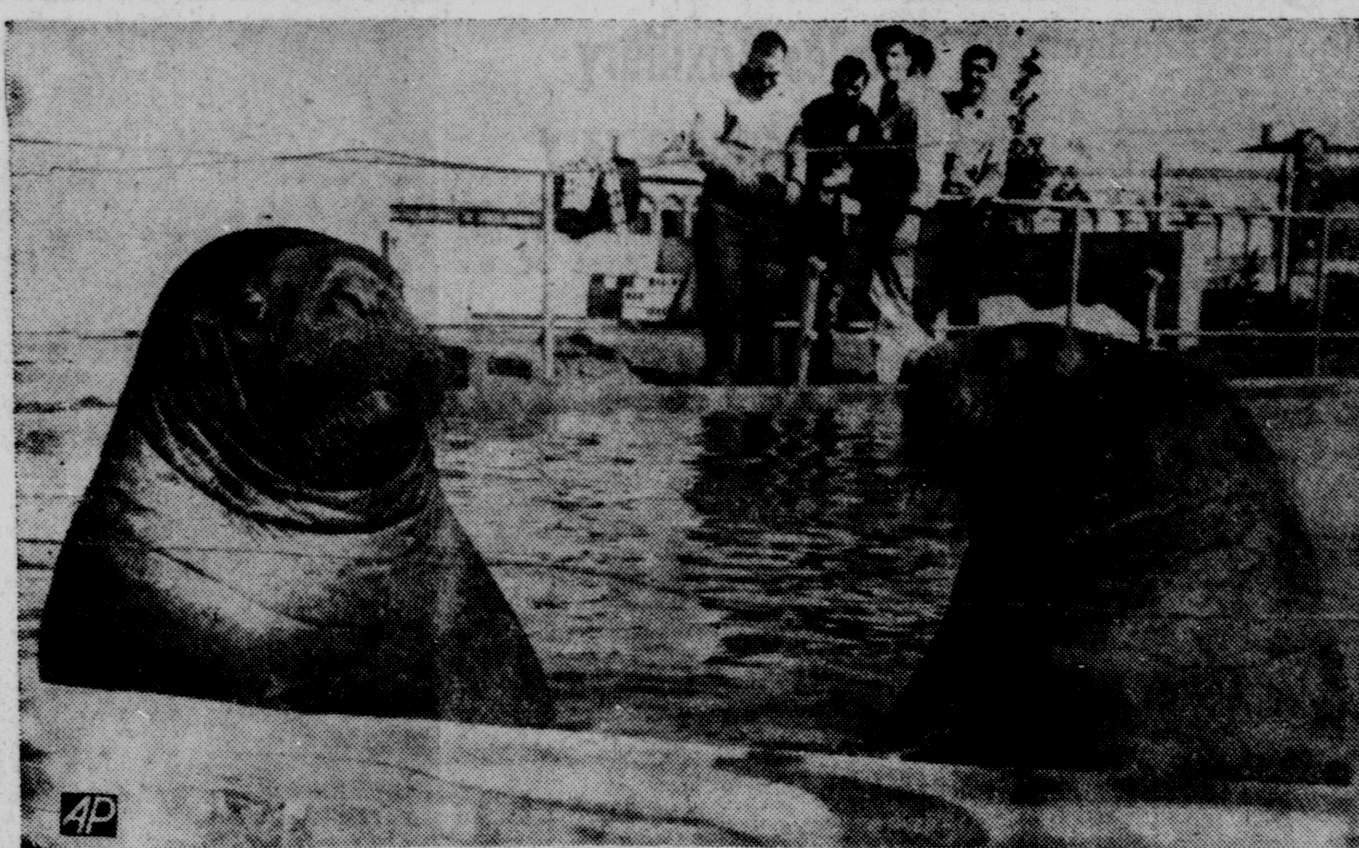

He said Israel's was a cause "cynically remembered by the administration late in October." When he asked the crowd: "Do we want four more years of John Foster Dulles?" a thunderous "No" rolled back to him.

Stevenson made no mention of Eisenhower's statement Tuesday that his Democratic opponent's proposal for ending H-bomb tests offered only the "illusion" of peace and progress toward peaceful use in that field.

Ohio Atomic Energy Advisory Council Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's first advisory council on atomic energy was named Tuesday. Dr. Harold L. Yochum, president of Capital University in Columbus, heads the executive committee.

Lausche said the new organization will assist in making Ohio a recognized center of atomic uses and research. It will study areas affected by atomic energy and its by-products. It will seek expansion of industrial uses of atomic energy and distribute information on peace time uses.

The advisory council also is charged with providing maximum safety during atomic energy development and research.

Father Tries In Vain To See Daughter Wed

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—The note said Mazie Soo Hoo, 18, and Edward Kwong, 21, were going to Reno to get married. And it added "don't try to stop us."

Mazie's father, Henry, told how he went to Reno to find the young couple — not to stop them but to tell them to come home "and have a church wedding or a least a big reception."

When he returned he learned his daughter, a University of California coed and Edward, a sophomore at Menlo College, had been found dead with arms around each other, in a car in the East Oakland foothills.

Four suicide notes told of a love pact.

"We never opposed their marriage," Mazie's father said. "We would have done anything to see them happy."

He said the two would be buried side by side.

Cities Put On Equal Basis For Shipping Iron Ore

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) Tuesday ordered that the ports of New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore be grouped on the same rate base for railroad shipments of imported iron ore to steel-producing points in Ohio and West Virginia.

This will mean reducing the rate from New York by 60 cents a ton, effective Oct. 29. Philadelphia and Baltimore were put on the same rate base, then $2.71 a ton, in 1954.

The three-city equality will apply on iron ore shipments to destinations in the Wheeling, W. Va., and Steubenville and Youngstown, Ohio, areas.

Freeman Convicted Of Morals Charge

LISBON — A jury of nine women and three men deliberated three hours before returning a verdict of guilty today in the trial of Gail Freeman, 20, of East Liverpool, accused of carnal knowledge of a 13-year-old West Virginia girl. Freeman was indicted secretly by the September Grand Jury and apprehended last month in Miami, Fla., by the FBI on a warrant charging illegal flight to avoid prosecution. The trial began Monday.

Closing arguments were completed at 1:50 p.m. Tuesday and Judge Joel H. Sharp finished charging the jury at 2:20 p.m. The jury returned for instructions at 2:55 p.m. and was sent home at 5:05 after failing to reach a verdict. They returned at 9:30 a.m. and reached a verdict of guilty at 9:45 a.m.

It is not known at present time if defense will file for new trial.

Khrushchev

dered dispersed after Khrushchev's telephone call and that a Russian naval squadron off Poland's Baltic coast had been withdrawn.

The informants gave this account of the dramatic events: Khrushchev called from the Kremlin.

He told Gomulka that with some slight reservations he accepted the new Polish Socialist policy that Gomulka announced last weekend. Khrushchev apologized for an attack in Pravda, the Soviet Communist organ, on articles in the Polish press calling for more freedom. The Pravda attack was highly resented in Poland.

Within the next day or so, Khrushchev was quoted as saying, Pravda will print a virtual retraction in the form of reprinting excerpts from Polish newspaper articles that denounced the Pravda attack as "clumsy interference."

The Polish sources said Gomulka and Premier Polesz Pyrykiewicz will go to Moscow later this week for discussions with the Soviet Communist leadership.

At the Moscow talks, the Poles said, a joint declaration probably will be issued similar to that with which Khrushchev patched up Moscow's quarrel with President Tito of Yugoslavia.

The street demonstrations and warnings from the Polish government that any attempt to halt the movement toward greater independence might lead to a bloody uprising apparently brought about Khrushchev's capitulation.

Its purpose is to solidify cooperation between state, county and local law enforcement officers and to provide information on new ideas and techniques in the prevention of crime.

Two panels will be featured this year. One will be a panel of Cleveland newspapermen on "public information and law enforcement" and the other a panel of policeman, judge, coroner, and prosecutor on "a prosecution team in homicide investigations."

Rebellion

during a broadcast by Radio Budapest. The sounds were cut off when the radio suddenly switched to music.

The radio said that about 120 youths had surrendered to Soviet and Hungarian troops.

The group, described as "counter-revolutionary rebels," raised the white flag at Budapest's famous chain bridge across the Danube near the parliament building, the radio added.

In reporting the first capture of rebels the radio declared: "After they realized further resistance was useless and bloodshed senseless the youth gave up."

Nagy imposed martial law on the country in the wake of a day and night of rebellious rioting in the streets of Budapest. The radio said "numerous citizens, soldiers and members of the security forces" were slain, but gave no figures.

In his appeal to the rebels Nagy declared: "Put down your arms by 4 p.m. today and martial law will be lifted."

Nagy called upon all workers to maintain discipline, and to "defend your factories."

He appealed to the rebels to surrender and support the new government.

He promised that anybody who surrenders during this afternoon will escape trial by military courts.

Later Budapest radio reported that a delegation of the rebel leaders was received by Nagy.

The delegation said they would surrender on promise of a complete amnesty. Radio Budapest said Nagy agreed to their terms.

Earlier Budapest radio said the situation was so serious the government had to appeal for help from Soviet troops stationed in Hungary to put down violence stemming from "Antirevolutionary gangs." The Russians gave such aid quickly.

Nagy said in his speech that he will carry out his government program of July 1953 "with all power." As premier in 1953 he promised more consumer goods and less emphasis on heavy industry.

Nagy also promised "consistent execution of democratization" on the basis of his 1953 program. He called on the rebels to return to "peaceful and constructive work."

Former Hungarian President Zoltan Tildy, who holds no office in Hungary, now, also spoke over the radio. He said "re-establishment of law and order is the supreme duty now: the people must support the government."

The Hungarians were seeking freedom from Moscow control. They had shouted "out with the Russian troops" and even the Hungarian Communist party's newspaper had proclaimed "we must seek our own road to socialism."

The country had been in ferment—right behind rebellious Poland—ever since Soviet Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev opened the Pandora's box of de-Stalinization last February.

More and more cries were raised for purging of the Stalin-era purgers who had imprisoned and executed thousands of Hungarians. Then began the rehabilitation of the innocent victims and in July the Communist party leadership dethroned the long-time Hungarian dictator, old Stalinist Matyas Rakosi.

But yet the long pent-up feelings of the Hungarian common people had not exploded.

Apparently this happened Tuesday night—in the stormiest night Budapest has known since late 1944, when the Russians finally wrestled the city from the occupying Germans.

Here is the sequence of events according to direct reports and Budapest radio broadcasts today:

1. Tuesday afternoon thousands of Budapest university students marched in a demonstration to enforce their demands for more freedom and better living conditions for the entire population.

2. The students were quickly joined by thousands of laborers, white collar workers and even off-duty soldiers. They all shouted "out with the Russians" and "we want a new government with Imre Nagy as premier." Many other anti-Russian and anti-government slogans were shouted.

3. Orderly demonstrations persisted into the evening. Then the students decided to march on to the Hungarian Parliament buildings on the banks of the Danube and talk to Nagy personally.

4. Radio Budapest reported at about 10 p.m. Tuesday that Nagy had received the student leaders for discussions.

5. Then came a radio and telephone blackout over Budapest. Only dance music, including American jazz, was broadcast. The midnight broadcast gave only foreign news.

6. At 4:30 a.m. today Radio Budapest announced "Fascist, reactionary elements have attacked public buildings and armed police. All public meetings are forbidden until order is restored."

7. At 6 a.m. Radio Budapest warned the people of the capital to stay indoors until 9 a.m. because "operations are still going on against rebellious elements."

8. At 8 a.m. the radio told people to stay indoors until 2 p.m.

at least, because "pounding elements" were still at large.

9. At 8:15 a.m. the radio announced Nagy would become the new premier and the Communist party leadership would be reshuffled.

10. Shortly after 9 a.m. Radio Budapest announced that the Hungarian government, now presumably under Nagy, had appealed for the aid of Russian troops stationed in Hungary to help put down the rebels in Budapest and elsewhere. Martial law was proclaimed and it was announced that summary courts could impose death penalties on breakers of the peace.

11. At 1 p.m. Radio Budapest reported "more and more rebels are surrendering." But it made no claim that the uprising had been crushed.

He said an estimated 80 million dollars was spent in the 1952 presidential campaign.

"This year it will certainly be more," Bender declared. "Both parties believe they have to have their candidates on more and more shows. The shows have to be more and more spectacular. More and more gimmicks are constantly being introduced. And the end is nowhere in sight."

Sen. Kefauver starts his "quickie" tour of the state Thursday prior to an all-day stay next Monday in his bid to pick up Ohio votes for the Democrats. Thursday's visit includes stops in Springfield and Dayton. Monday he will be in Lima, Findlay and Canton.

In Massillon Tuesday night, Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill, Republican candidate for governor, told a dinner meeting that President Eisenhower "represents the best chance of real peace that this country has had in many, many years."

O'Neill said the people of the United States are "bound more closely together than ever before" because of the "day by day efforts of the President to make certain that the government served all the people all the time and no special groups or classes."

His opponent, DiSalle, touring Cleveland ward meetings, termed Ohio's program for treating the mentally ill "a mode which many other states are following." He added, however, that more must be done, particularly in caring for mentally retarded children.

The drainage level of the tile was lowered to 30 inches under the floor instead of the 12 which was under the old floor. In addition, Fadelly said, a catch basin was installed in the southwest corner of the gym, into which tile is being run.

A settling tank was included to take care of any silt, and a sump pump in that corner to protect against possible plugging of the tile that runs into the city drain. Another sump pump was placed in the northeast corner as a secondary precaution, he said.

The floor was removed down to the original concrete pad which was laid in 1918, Fadelly said. The new floor will be constructed on this original base.

workers in other countries to the fruits of democracy.

Eisenhower's 1,700-word statement on nuclear tests made no reference to Russian Premier Bulganin's renewal last week of his proposal for an agreement to ban all testing of both atomic and hydrogen bombs.

But he said, as he had done in sharply rejecting that proposal, that "the refusal of the Soviet Union to accept any dependable system of mutual safeguards" is the only thing which has stymied international agreement on arms reduction.

He said that in the last two years Russia has rejected 14 specific U.S. disarmament proposals.

Funeral Directors Urged To Keep Out 'Casket Peddlers'

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Jerry G. Spears, Columbus, Ohio, president of the National Funeral Directors Assn., Tuesday urged funeral directors to police the ranks to keep out "promoters and casket peddlers."

"There are promoters and some of our own group who would arrogate the code of ethics and all legal and educational regulations which could be eliminated," Spears told delegates to the 75th NFDA convention.

"They would like us as funeral directors to be sellers of caskets and nothing more," he declared. "They want us to throw sentiment, the therapy of mourning, ethics and group solidarity out of the window except to the extent that profit could be realized by keeping some of them."

Spears said the NFDA's code of ethics prohibits members from price advertising. The key responsibility of funeral directors now, he added, is to serve the bereaved family in many ways. The casket and other merchandise and furnishings which are provided as part of a funeral service constitute less than 30 per cent of the price of the service, he said.

Algerian Riots Leave 53 Dead

Farms Burned After Capture of Top Rebels

RABAT, Morocco (AP)—At least 53 persons, mostly Europeans, today were reported killed in Morocco in rioting touched off by France's seizure of five top Algerian rebels.

French and Moroccan armed patrols uncovered more and more burned and mutilated bodies in the city of Meknes where angry Arab Nationalists struck Tuesday.

In addition to Tuesday's rioting in the town, French sources said 36 farms, mostly European, in the surrounding countryside were wholly or partly burned by rampaging Moroccans.

French police reportedly threatened to stop working for the Moroccan government after four of their men were found slain.

Eight bodies of Europeans were found this morning near the Portuguese bridge on the main road to Rabat, 100 miles east of Meknes.

Meknes is a city of 150,000 inhabitants, more than 20,000 of them Europeans.

Rioting ended Tuesday and authorities spent the night looking for bodies.

In Tunis, Morocco's leaders ordered a plane home after talks with Tunisian leaders were broken off.

The French trick which diverted the plane of rebel chiefs to French-run Algiers and waiting French troops instead of their destination in independent Tunis kicked up a storm on both sides of the Mediterranean. The action touched off riots and protest strikes in both Tunisia and Morocco.

French security forces in Algeria braced for reprisals as the Premier Guy Mollet flatly refused Arab appeals to free the five rebel leaders.

In Paris, the National Assembly cheered Mollet's exultant recital of the capture of the rebel chiefs. The House — with the exception of the Communists — applauded the Premier's endorsement of action by French civil and military authorities in Algiers.

Forgot He Had Marijuana When He Visited Prison

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—Gerard P. Velasco told a jury he just plain forgot he was carrying marijuana when he went to San Quentin prison to visit his half brother.

Velasco, 27, a Hollywood piano player, testified in his superior court trial on charges of possessing narcotics and attempting to smuggle them into the prison.

"What a stupid thing for me to do," Velasco said he had exclaimed to the guards who checked him entering the prison.

Velasco said Hollywood musician friends had given him the marijuana as a sort of going away present. He testified he told the guards he had "used a little the night before and forgot I had it in my pocket."

Utilities Commission Seeks To Bring End To Phone Strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state utilities commission meets today with officials of the Communications Workers of America (CWA) to try to reach an agreement with the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. and end the 102-day strike against it.

The commission met Tuesday with company officials, after which commission Chairman Robert Moulton said the company's position remained the same. But the company is willing to bargain with the union on issues which have deadlocked negotiations, he added.

"The meeting was called to urge the company to redouble its efforts to reach an agreement," Moulton said. "We thought there should be impressed on the company urgent measures needed to proceed to an agreement."

However, neither the commissioners nor the company would go into detail of what was discussed.

The commission has no legal power to enter a labor dispute. But it is trying to restore telephone service to some 17,000 subscribers in the Portsmouth area who have been without it since a crowd of an estimated 500 persons stoned exchanges last week.

The CWA Tuesday filed its brief with the commission in connection with last week's hearing to determine cause of the strike. The company had opposed the hearing on grounds it violated collective bargaining rights. Company Atty. Sid Griffith said Ohio Consolidated does not plan to file a brief.

Meanwhile, the Portsmouth Bar Assn. authorized its president to appoint a committee to investigate accusations that law enforcement has been lax in Portsmouth during the strike.

Tebbetts Named National League Manager Of The Year

Haney Second In Balloting

Redleg Chief Gets 160 Votes, Alston Only 6

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—George (Birdie) Tebbetts, who almost steered the underdog Cincinnati Redlegs into the World Series, today was named National League Manager of the Year in the Associated Press annual poll.

Tebbetts won easily. He received 160 of the 207 votes cast by members of the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America.

Fred Haney of Milwaukee was named on 34 ballots. Walt Alston, who guided the Brooklyn Dodgers to the league title, received only six votes. Bobby Bragan of Pittsburgh had five and Fred Hutchinson of St. Louis and Mayo Smith of Philadelphia got one each.

A patient although sometimes fiery manager, Tebbetts molded the Redlegs into a leading pennant contender in one year. They were not eliminated from the race until the next-to-last day of the season and finished in third place, only two games behind Brooklyn and one behind Milwaukee.

Birdie had no 20-game winning pitcher in his third season at the Cincinnati helm. His top victory man was Brooks Lawrence with 19. With help from Hershel Freeman, who had 14 wins in relief, Tebbetts maneuvered and improvised, getting 91 triumphs from an admittedly weak staff.

Despite injuries to Ted Kluszewski and a subpar midseason showing by Wally Post, the Redlegs held a 1½-game lead over Milwaukee at the All-Star break (July 8). Four days later they fell from first place but remained in contention.

It was the first time since 1944 that Cincinnati finished in the first division. In the other seasons under Tebbetts' direction, the Reds wound up in fifth place each time — with a 74-80 record in 1954 and 75-79 in 1955.

Tebbetts, 44, is a native of Burlington, Vt. He lives in Nashua, N.H. As a catcher, he spent 14 seasons in the American League with Detroit, Boston and Cleveland.

Haney took over the Milwaukee reins from Charley Grimm in mid-June. Less than a month later, the Braves were in first place. Only a driving finish by the Dodgers and their own slump in the last three days of the season, prevented them from bringing the pennant to the Wisconsin metropolis.

The lack of support for Alston can be traced to the fact that the Dodgers were overwhelming favorites to finish on top. Walter was the NL's manager-of-the-year in 1955.

Eddie Machen To Box John Holman Tonight

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Unbeaten Eddie Machen will gun for his 18th straight victory and a higher heavyweight ranking when he collides with towering Chicago veteran Johnny Holman in a nationally televised bout tonight.

Machen, ranked No. 7, and Holman, No. 8, have been training hard for the fight several days and doctors pronounced them in top physical condition Tuesday.

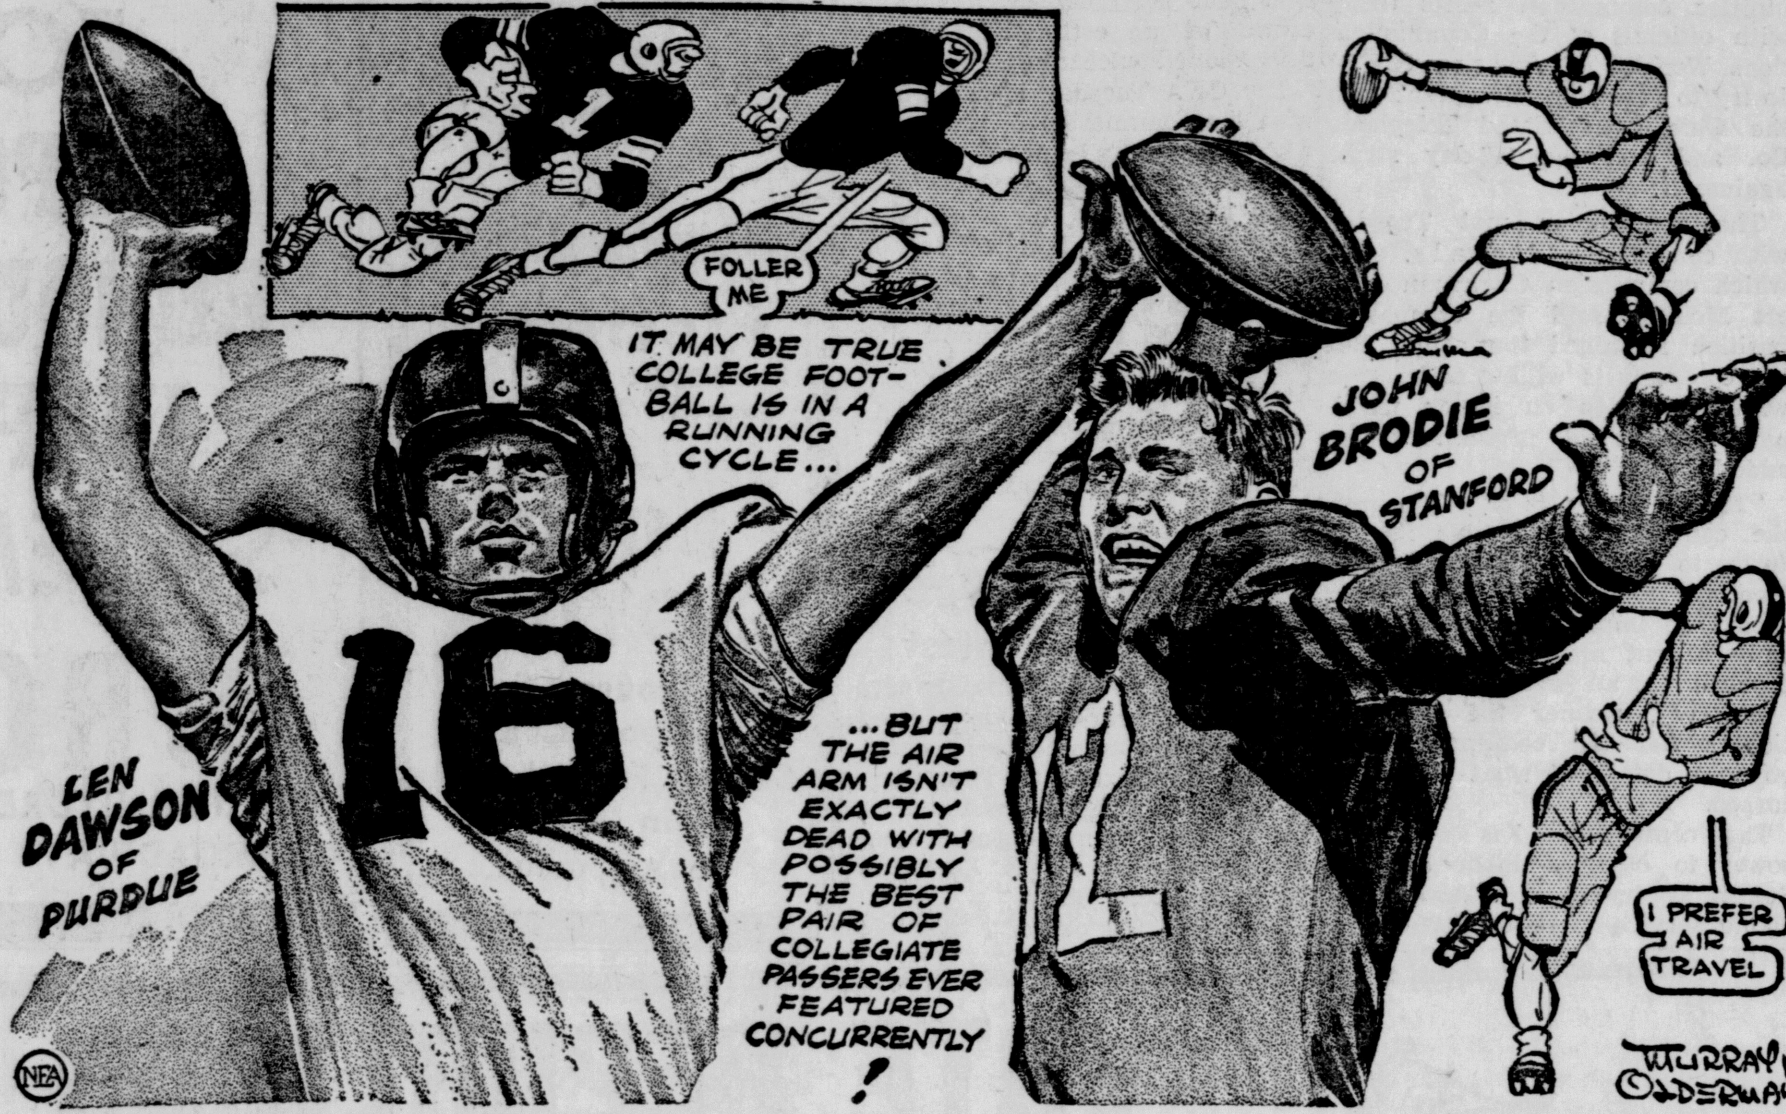

Machen, 24-year-old Redding, Calif., sharpshooter, continued to reign as a 2-1 favorite in the scheduled 10-round fight, which will be carried on (ABC) radio and television starting at 9 p.m. (CDT).

Neither fighter predicted a knockout although both were quietly confident of winning.

Machen's role as favorite is based on his speed, quick punching and record of 13 knockouts in 17 battles.

Holman, 29, a paralyzing left-hander but a slow, plodding mauler, will have a height and weight advantage. He stands 6-3 and weighed just under 200 pounds today. Machen, who is 3 inches shorter, scaled 193.

Holman, with a 30-12-1 record and 18 knockouts, discounted the odds against him. He conceded his younger opponent's ability but said Machen had not yet been tested by a big, experienced man.

Goshen Wins At Greenford Expense 27-19

Doug Birkhimer scored two touchdowns and an extra point as Goshen won its sixth game of the season Tuesday, defeating Greenford, 27-19.

Birkhimer gave the home team a two-touchdown lead in the first quarter which they never relinquished. He plunged two yards twice and ran the conversion for a 13-0 Goshen lead.

Dave Hiner went 14 yards for Greenford's initial score in the second period with John Detwiler adding the 7th point. The half ended with Goshen in front, 13-7.

The Goshers stretched their lead to 20-7 in the third quarter when Hayes Covert ran 15 yards to score. Roger Wyss converted for Goshen. Detwiler kept up the seasaw scoring effect by scoring from 5 yards out for Greenford; the extra point failed and the score was now 20-13-Goshen.

The third quarter ended shortly after Bob Stallsmith ran 20 yards for Goshen with Wyss converting to give the home eleven a 27-13 edge.

The lone touchdown in the last period was Jack Brudley's 2-yard plunge for Greenford.

Goshen's slate is now 6-1. Greenford's is 0-6.

Hornung Near Lead For Total Offense

NEW YORK (AP)—A dislocated thumb and Oklahoma's stout defenses have popped up in front of Paul Hornung just when the Notre Dame quarterback had battled to within catching distance of the major college football offense lead.

Statistics released today by the NCAA Service Bureau show Hornung, who has provided what little fight the Fighting Irish have shown thus far, No. 2 in total offense behind Stanford's John Brodie.

Brodie in five games, one more than the Notre Dame ace, has been in on 148 plays for an 875-yard net. Hornung has been in 96 plays for a 764 net.

Both seniors have accounted for more than half of their teams' total offense. Brodie's personal total is 50.5 per cent of Stanford's 1,734-yard total. Hornung has provided 55.3 per cent of Notre Dame's 1,381.

Sooners, Tech, Spartans Seen Grid Victors

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP)—One can get poor in a hurry picking against Notre Dame's football team but there is every indication that it can be done this time without injury.

The Irish sophomores, who could jell at any moment, now have a record of one triumph in four games. Oklahoma, erstwhile No. 1 in the nation, hasn't been defeated since Notre Dame did it in the 1953 season opener.

Other picks on this week's schedule (last week's record 38-10 for 792. Season's figures: 172-49-778):

Michigan State over Illinois: A spot for an upset if Michigan State has let down too far after its victory over Notre Dame last Saturday.

Georgia Tech over Tulane: Very quietly, Tulane has built a strong record in the Deep South but this time it collides with Wade Mitchell, Toppy Vann and all those other speedy Engineers.

Tennessee over Maryland: Too many Marylanders on the injured list.

Michigan over Minnesota: Neither team too strong on defense but Michigan has Ron Kramer.

Southern California over Stanford: This is Jon Arnett's farewell as a Trojan—and Stanford will be glad he's among the alumni after this.

Baylor over Texas A & M: The Aggies gave their all last Saturday while Baylor rested. Home field means the difference.

Texas Christian over Miami:

Jim Swink can't be held in check on successive Saturdays.

Ohio State over Wisconsin: The Buckeyes rarely are upset when the foe is from the Big Ten.

West Virginia over Penn State: The Lions aren't back to earth yet after that 7-6 triumph over Ohio State.

Iowa over Purdue: But the bulldozers could do it on Len Dawson's passing.

Pittsburgh over Oregon: Oregon has scored only two touchdowns in its last three games.

Skipping over the others in a hurry:

FRIDAY

Denver over New Mexico.

George Washington over William & Mary, Kansas over Oklahoma A & M.

SATURDAY

EAST: Syracuse over Boston University, Brown over Rhode Island, Army over Columbia, Princeton over Cornell, Dartmouth over Harvard, Navy over Penn, Florida State over Villanova, Yale over Colgate.

SOUTH: Mississippi State over Alabama, Houston over Auburn, Davidson over VMI, Duke over North Carolina State, The Citadel over Furman, North Carolina over Wake Forest, Vanderbilt over Middle Tennessee, Virginia Tech over Virginia, Mississippi over Arkansas.

WEST: Colorado over Nebraska, Northwestern over Indiana, Cincinnati over Marquette, Missouri over Iowa State, Tulsa over Hardin Simmons, Drake over Bradley.

SOUTHWEST: Rice over Texas.

FAR WEST: Arizona over Texas Tech, Montana over Colorado A&M, Oregon State over UCLA, College of Pacific over Washington State, Brigham Young over Utah State, Utah over Idaho, Wyoming over Kansas State.

Columbus Now Farm Team For Pirates

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—John Galbreath, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, announced Tuesday night that the Pirates have entered into a working agreement with the Columbus Jets of the International League.

The Jets will receive 25 players from the Pirate organization, he said. Columbus has been a farm club of the Kansas City Athletics but served that connection at the end of last season.

Galbreath, a Columbus resident, said he is "anxious to boost local baseball" and feels the new working agreement "will strengthen the Jets."

Oklahoma Coaches Say They'll Be Lucky To Squeak By Irish

By SAUL FELDMAN

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—"Oklahoma score more points against Notre Dame than Michigan State?"

"Son, the Sooners will be lucky to get out of South Bend Saturday with their string of 34 football victories intact." That's the entire Oklahoma coaching staff at its favorite pastime of chanting the "We Can't Beat Them Blues."

From Head Coach Bud Wilkinson down the line, the worry is growing among the coaching staff that the team won't be able to handle the Irish in the nationally televised contest.

It's a sincere worry, and maybe is one reason that Oklahoma has been so successful under Wilkinson for 10 years. Nothing is ever taken for granted.

There are very few things Wilkinson's teams haven't accomplished, and one of them is beating Notre Dame.

Twice the Sooners have clashed with the Irish, and both times they were whipped by a touchdown. The first time in 1952, they lost 21-27 and the next year it was 21-28.

Michigan State stopped Notre Dame 47-14 last Saturday, an impressive enough victory to cause sports writers to drop the Sooners into the No. 2 spot in the nation's football ranks. Michigan State took over the top rung.

The cry has been going up for Oklahoma, which has made 178 points while holding its four opponents to 12, to run up a bigger score to get back into the No. 1 spot.

Talk of beating Notre Dame bad is just wishful thinking," Wilkinson said. "We can't come close to matching Michigan State in the reserves which were down Notre Dame. Don't forget that Notre Dame played Michigan State to a standstill in the first half. We won't be able to do that."

"Michigan State had several advantages over Notre Dame that we probably won't have," Wilkinson said. "First off, they caught them on a hot day. Notre Dame had several top men out with injuries. And their defense is catching up with their fine offense and that sophomore team is just about ready to have a good game."

Wilkinson and Notre Dame Coach Terry Brennan are personal friends, and were roommates together for several weeks when they were in Europe lecturing at a football clinic for servicemen.

"Terry's season would be complete to beat us," Wilkinson pointed out. "I can't predict if it will be a high or low scoring game but I'm sure both teams will score."

Another thing Oklahoma coaches aren't discounting is the overpowering crowd feeling against a team playing at South Bend.

The Sooner team which played at South Bend four years ago felt it keenly. Even assistant coach Sam Lyle who scouted two Notre Dame games this season felt it.

"Scouting those two games were the toughest I've ever had to do," Lyle explained. "It wasn't that I was hard following Notre Dame. I succumbed to the crowd psychology and before I knew it I had stopped scouting and was pulling for Notre Dame."

Salem Students Plan Pep Rally

Parade, Bon Fire Set For Thursday Night

The Salem Student body will stage a "Pep Rally" Thursday evening at 7 in front of the Salem High School.

Fred Cope, school athletic director, and Head Football Coach Earle Bruce, will be in charge of the rally, along with representatives from the Fire Department and Police Department.

A committee consisting of Barbara Couborn, Beverly Mercer, Chappie Smith, Mark Weber, Mickey Cope and Tom Lease, have worked for two weeks in preparation for this pep rally, and all indications are that it will be a great success.

Students will assemble in front of the high school at 7.

Being led by the high school band and football team, the students will march down Lincoln to Pershing, up Broadway to State St., down State to Lincoln, on to Pershing to the Reilly Stadium practice field.

At the field the students will be led in cheers and school songs, around a bonfire. Coach Bruce, Cope, and Co-Captains Bill Schuster and Tom Alesi will give talks.

The students will then sing the Alma Mater and the rally will come to a conclusion.

Football Briefs

CHICAGO (AP)—Midwest football briefs:

Ohio State — It's back to a ground attack for the Buckeyes who failed to pass their way to victory over Penn State. Halfback Hubert Bobo's injured knee is coming along.

Wisconsin — Quarterback Ron Carlson has a stiff wrist and might not be able to play against Ohio State Saturday.

Michigan — Terry Barr, star halfback hobbled by a charley horse, appeared on the practice field but couldn't do much more than throw the ball around. He doesn't figure to play against Minnesota.

Minnesota — Quarterback Bobby Cox has been elevated to the first team. Coach Murray Warmath hopes Cox can pass the Gophers to victory in the Little Brown Jug battle.

Michigan State — Junior Joe Caruthers has taken over the right tackle spot vacated by the injured Pat Burke. Burke will be out for the season with a torn knee ligament.

Illinois — Tackle Paul Adams and Percy Oliver were promoted to the Illini varsity replacing Dick Nordmeyer and Bob Allen. Illinois worked against Michigan State plays and is a 20-point underdog.

Iowa — It's still practice behind closed doors at Iowa. Coach Forest Evashevski wouldn't even reveal what his Hawks are doing in preparing for Purdue.

Purdue — The Boilermakers staged a light contact drill rather than risk injuries for the Iowa game.

Northwestern — Injured Wildcats including star halfback Bob McKiever are rounding into top form and will be ready for the Indiana game.

Indiana — Coach Bernie Crimmins ran four sophomore quarterbacks with the varsity in an effort to find a replacement for injured Gene Cichowski.

Notre Dame — Quarterback Paul Hornung is nursing a jammed left thumb. Also injured is second-back Larry Cooke. Working with the varsity was sophomore Bob Williams who hasn't seen action this season.

Marquette — Displaying better blocking and improved protection for the passer, the Warriors went through another heavy contact drill.

FIGHT RESULTS

San Jose, Calif.—Willie Marton, 145, San Jose, knocked out Chato Duarte, 146, Mexico City, 1.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By R. L. LIDE

The Salem Hunting Club has resumed activity teaching hunter safety to the boys from 10 years of age up.

Parents should insist that youngsters take this course before being allowed to handle any kind of a gun.

Contact B. L. Flick, Dutch Miles or Dave Kirby and fill out an application blank. Each group will be limited and they will receive their instruction on the first come, first served basis.

DUCK HUNTERS have been on their good behavior since the season opened. Before and since the season opened I asked the hunters to do their best not to shoot wood ducks. As a result when the ducks were flying the first man spotting wood ducks passed the word down the line "woody, woody, woody" and the hunters held their fire.

Hunting was good the first day and the following Tuesday morning but now practically all the ducks have disappeared. Unless we get our share of flight ducks, duck hunting is practically over regardless of the season.

V. W. FLORA and son Vern Jr. limited out with four green heads each. In fact the last two they shot fell within a few feet from where I was standing. Vern Sr., bagged another green head the following morning.

A. J. Blocksome of Lisbon bagged 3 mallards, 1 blue wing teal, Carl McCartney of Salem, 2 mallards and one coot, Robert Finch of Lisbon, 3 mallards, 1 b.w. teal.

Jim Berg and party of Salem, 5 mallards, 1 b.w. teal, Larry Hepler and party, 5 b.w. teal and 3 g.w. teal; Ted Enders of Salem, 1 baldpate, b.w. teal and a ring neck duck.

THERE WERE NO DUCKS on Lake Guilford, very few at Zepernick Lake. The heaviest concentration of native hatched ducks was on the Guilford swamps that extends east from Guilford for about two miles and on the Salem reservoir.

Two pileated woodpeckers put in their appearance and many hunters saw this rare bird for the first time. He is the largest of the woodpecker family and sometimes referred to as the "mile-or-more" bird as you can hear his call a "mile or more."

Only his cousin the ivory bill compares in size but they are practically extinct. Bird lovers wishing to see this pair of pileated woodpeckers should go to the Sell Cold Run farm and explore the woods just east. It would be no trouble to locate them because they are very noisy. When one bird becomes separated from the other they sound their call.

THE ALBINO DEER that has been seen by so many people north of Lisbon is an escaped pet of Al Raabe of Fairfield Twp.

Although he is white he is not a true albino as he has black eyes. Mr. Raabe called me about three years ago after acquiring the animal from the Cleveland zoo. I believe he is about 14 years old.

Although he is supposed to be the offspring of the Virginia deer I have my doubts. His neck has a dew drop unlike our native deer and he is built very cobby, something like a pony. The antlers are long and slender like a wapiti much bigger than a buck. In appearance he is a stag and not a buck.

I would like to see Mr. Raabe get the deer back if that was possible as he knows nothing about freedom of the wilds. At present since he is free he is entitled to all the protection of any other wild deer. People should let him alone.

Since the mating season is near I wonder what will happen when he meets a native buck? I doubt if he will be accepted in the social life of the white tails. He has had his food brought to him all his life. Can he survive the winter in the wilds? It would be a good thing if everybody let him alone even during the open season for deer. I doubt if he will harm anyone or anything.

Sooners Picked By Two TDs; Spartans, Michigan Favored

CHICAGO (AP)—Clawed by those Penn State Nittany Lions, the Ol' Swami gets off the casualty list in time for another reading of the T leaves. (His record so far is 27-4 with 2 ties for .871).

Oklahoma 27, Notre Dame 14—For the first half this nationally televised piece de resistance should be quite a battle, but the Sooners' depth will tell and the Irish figure to absorb their third straight defeat. Oklahoma, with a 34-game winning streak, will be trying to regain the No. 1 spot after losing it to Michigan State, but in order to have a chance an impressive victory is necessary.

MSU took the top rating by crushing the Irish 47-14 last week. It is doubtful that the Sooners can top that. Nore Dame finds itself the victim of a squeeze play in this respect and, in addition, meets a team keyed for revenge. Bud Wilkinson has never defeated the Irish, losing to them 27-21 in 1952 and 28-21 the next year.

Michigan State 26, Illinois 13—About this time of the season, Illinois usually jells and there could be no better time for it than at this homecoming extravaganza. The Fighting Illini have pulled some tremendous surprises in the past but they don't appear to be equipped talentwise for an ambush this time against a squad anxious to hold the No. 1 ranking. However, the Illini have the game-breaking backs who could produce, especially Abe Woodson who is at his peak. He raced 181 yards against Minnesota.

Michigan 21, Minnesota 7—The form charts usually go out the window in this Little Brown Jug rivalry. But the Wolverines seem to be the team to beat for the Rose Bowl nod. When you have this kind of incentive plus superior material it's quite a combination. Bobby Cox hitting his stride, the Gophers could surprise.

Purdue 14, Iowa 13—The unbeaten Hawkeyes have a defensive edge but Purdue has the attack to wring out this important Bib Ten victory. The Boilermakers have fewer serious injuries than for several weeks and their full complement of fleet halfbacks is back on duty to augment Mel Dillard's fullback slashes and Len Dawson's passing.

Northwestern 13, Indiana 7—The Wildcats finally have their aerial game in working order, completing 8 out of 11 passes in a fine showing against Michigan. That, plus Bob McKivers versatility, gives them the punch necessary to gain their first Big Ten triumph in two years.

Ohio State 20, Wisconsin 7—The rapidly improving Badgers couldn't catch the Buckeyes at a worse time—after that 7-6 upset by Penn State. The Bucks can match the all-time Big Ten record held by Michigan of winning 15 straight conference games if they take this one.

Cincinnati 19 Marquette 6—The Warriors have dropped five in a row. Cincinnati has only one victory in five starts, beating Tulsa 7-6. Tulsa romped over Marquette 54-0.

Hayes Says Engle Knew OSU Strategy

CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio State Football Coach Woody Hayes says Penn State Coach Rip Engle knew the Buckeyes football strategy and so it had to be changed when the two teams clashed last Saturday. Penn State won, 7-6.

Hayes made the disclosure in a talk Tuesday to the Chicago Football Writers' meeting via amplified phone from Columbus.

"Engle was a member of my East staff for last season's East-West game," Hayes said. "He knew my basic patterns. We had

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Leon Trotsky, one-time Bronx tailor, one-time leader of the Red Army, founder of the Soviet Navy and world revolutionist without peer, also launched a political party in this country—the Socialist Workers' party.

Although no threat to either Eisenhower or Stevenson, this party has a presidential candidate limping in this election.

All of which would have made news only in the northeast corner of Childs restaurant on New York's Union Square if the nominee, Comrade Farrell Dobbs, had not just been endorsed by one Vincent Hallinan, himself a one-time presidential candidate.

Mr. Hallinan, friend and counsel to Harry Bridges, you will recall, ran on Henry Wallace's Progressive party ticket in 1952. Mr. Wallace is nursing big red strawberries and conservative politics on an upstate New York farm these days. But Mr. Hallinan is more consistent.

IT HAS TAKEN me eight years to prove what I said about the Progressive party's Sovietizing politics. Now we have it right out of Mr. Hallinan's mouth. Just recently he said:

"I have no quarrel with the Communist party; I admire and respect it, and my relations with it have always been cordial."

Now let me build my case. Here is the warmest sentiment I've yet heard mouthed about the Communist party outside its fold.

This man has counseled Harry Bridges, developed strategy for the West Coast pro-Communist labor leader and the longshoremen's union which Bridges heads.

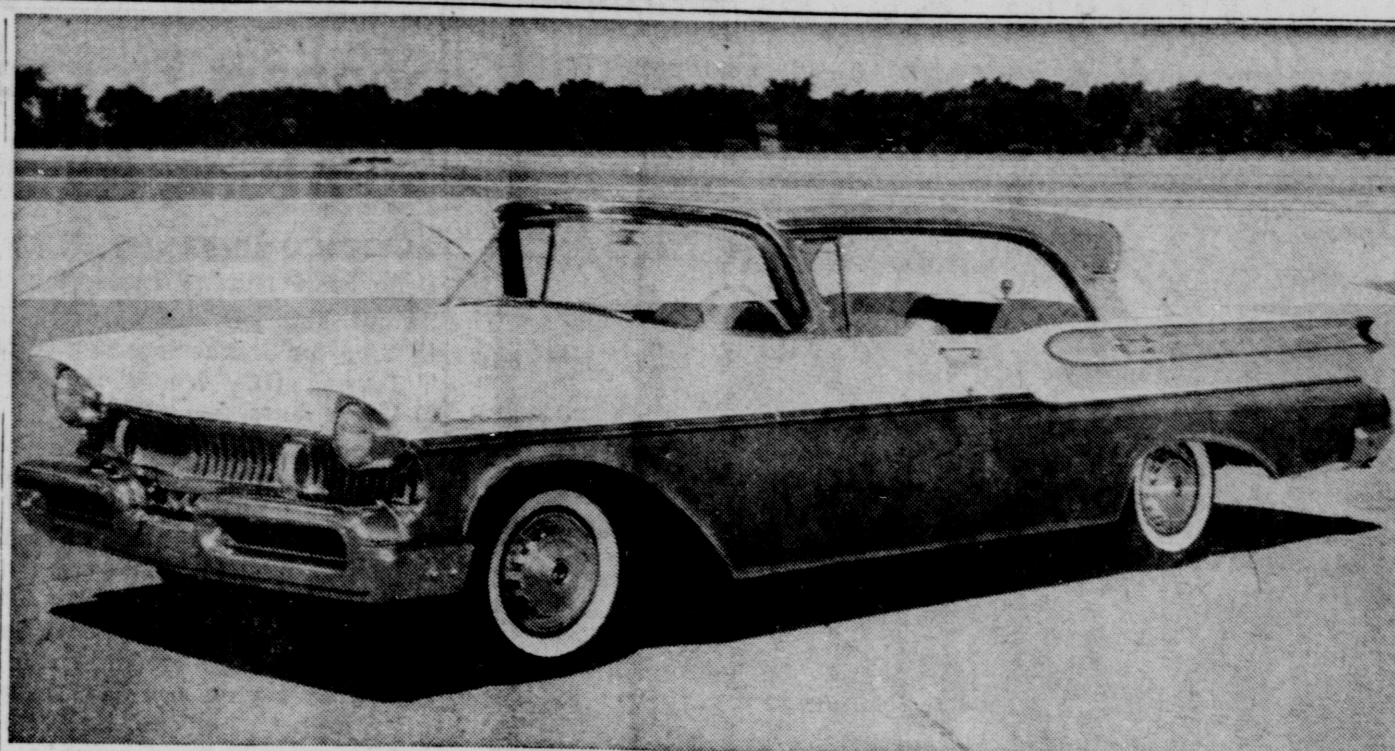

Furthermore, Mr. Hallinan has been exalted by this union, which made him an honorary member not too long ago.

I take you through this twilight zone of politics so little known by the average American because I want to create for you the atmosphere in which many of the leaders of the West Coast longshoremen work by day and night. This is weird, sectarian, left-wing politics which must not be discounted, however.

THE SMALL BAND of political night workers have gained great power. How great soon will be seen when the Senate Internal Security subcommittee opens hearings in Hawaii on Nov. 27.

As the Senate probes move from island to island, it will be seen that Bridges' union has a stranglehold not only over the Hawaiian economy but in the immediate vicinity of our outer military and naval installations.

It is upon these airfields and harbors that we mainlanders depend for warning and defense from attack by enemies from the Orient. Just how do this union and many of its leaders gain such power? The brutal fact is that they could not have influence if their outfit was not accepted by some political

NEW MERCURY FOR 1957. — Distinctively styled from its jet-flow bumpers and forward-thrust fender hoods, its sculptured steel body with projectile treatment on the rear fender, the 1957 Mercury represents one of the most extensive model changes in history. Its "dream car" design is accentuated by the thin, crisp roof line.

Despite its low silhouette, it has two inches more headroom. Its bigger bodies are five inches longer and three inches wider. Mercury offers a unique new floating ride with a multitude of new chassis suspension features. A choice of two V-8 engines, 255 or 290 horsepower, provide extra power, performance and durability. ## English Organist's Tunes Really Out of This World

TORQUAY, England (AP) — The vicar says that when Henry plays the organ in vine-covered St. John's Church the music is something, but you can't help noticing you can see right through him.

The vicar, the Rev. Anthony Rouse, reported the matter today to the Church of England's Fellowship for Physical Study.

The ghost is supposed to be Henry Ditton Newman, a former church organist who died as a young man in 1833.

Mr. Rouse said there was some evidence that the organ played on its own during Newman's funeral. He added:

"I myself have heard the organ play twice at night. I can't tell you the music. It is sweet, but sort of heavy. I have heard it just for a few minutes."

"Quite a few members of the choir have been conscious of someone standing by the organ when they were singing unaccompanied, as if the organist had got off his stool and was at their side."

Ancient services to exorcise Henry have been held but they have not driven him out.

Cocktail Parties

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Everybody talks about how terrible the average cocktail party is, but nobody does anything about it — except maybe throw a worse one himself later.

It's reached a point where, when a host invites you to a cocktail party, you wonder whether it's because he really wants to see you, or merely is seeking revenge because you had him over to your last house party.

After attending some 3,000 of these social marathons (I have the same morbid interest in them that old women have in attending funerals), I believe I've figured out a way cocktail parties can not only be made endurable but enjoyable.

First, let us examine what is wrong with most cocktail parties. Connoisseurs of the napkin circuit agree that while the canapes may make a party indigestible, it is the conversation that actually makes it insufferable.

"I know you'll be enchanted with Miss Wambnutt . . . She's so intellectual . . . and also with Mr. Frothingham. He's a real dear," says the hostess and gallops off fast.

Two hours later you know the deadly reason. Miss Wambnutt, who wears Clara Bow bangs, is hipped on reincarnation and is sure she remembers you from a previous life in Nineveh (or was it Tyre?), when she was a princess and you were her pre-Christian slave. Mr. Frothingham, a distinguished codger with a silver mustache, has nly two words — "uh" and "uh-uh." His main interest in life is in dipping his mustache into a martini and then squeezing it dry with his lower lip.

How can we avoid these situations? By taking a tip from business conventions, at which delegates wear identity tags bearing their names and business firms. Here is my idea. Every cocktail party guest should be made to wear, not merely an identity tag, but a printed biography card listing his interests and prejudices in large clear type.

For example, a card like this: "My name is Elbert Stitzer. I manufacture ladies' undergarments. Yes, I find it interesting. "My income is upward of $20,000 a year.

"I have a wife and three children (all grown) If you don't show me pictures of your family, I won't show you mine.

"I am an intermittent Presbyterian and a registered Democrat (yes, I know I should probably vote Republican, but my father told me with his dying breath that if I ever did he would roll over in his grave).

"Subjects I don't want to talk about: politics, religion, flying saucers, the opera, interplanetary flights, the possibility of life on mars, and John Foster Dulles.

For example, a card like this: "My name is Elbert Stitzer. I manufacture ladies' undergarments. Yes, I find it interesting. "My income is upward of $20,000 a year.

"I have a wife and three children (all grown) If you don't show me pictures of your family, I won't show you mine.

THE 1957 NASH Ambassador, which sweeps into the future with a revolutionary four-headlight system to highlight its new features, will be introduced tomorrow. Lower than the 1956 model by two inches, the 1957 Nash Ambassador has a new V-8 engine developing 255 horsepower, "Lightning Streak" styling, increased maneuverability, and more luxurious interiors.

The new headlight system, with two lamps mounted vertically in each fender, is hailed as the greatest advance in automobile lighting since the advent of sealed-beam units. Three transmissions—flashaway hydra-matic, overdrive and synchromesh—are available. Shown above is the custom four-door sedan.

Nixon Seeks To Nail Down Illinois

Hodge Scandal Causes Republicans Worry

EN ROUTE WITH NIXON, in Illinois (AP) — Vice President Nixon opens two days of intensive campaigning in Illinois today seeking to nail down a state where Republicans are worried about effects of a scandal in the state administration.

The vice president whistle-stops clear across the state from south to north today, then leaves his train for a well-filled day in the Chicago area Thursday.

He is understood to feel that the widely publicized embezzlement case involving former Republican State Auditor Orville E. Hodge has made uncertain otherwise rosy prospects for the GOP in the home state of Democratic presidential nominee Adlai E. Stevenson.

Hodge was the Republican nominee to succeed himself as auditor until the state check scandal broke in July. He now is serving federal and state prison term after pleading guilty to charges growing out of misuse of about 1½ million dollars in state funds.

The vice president gave a clue Tuesday at Kalamazoo, Mich., to how he will handle this issue. A heckler displayed a sign calling attention to the Hodge case. The vice president took no direct notice of this but commented that "in any administration as big as this one at either the state or national level you'll find persons guilty of violation of the public trust."

"But when we find dishonesty, we clean it up rather than cover it up."

At South Bend, Ind., Tuesday night the vice president made a hard-hitting attack on Stevenson the issue of ending H-bomb tests.

He charged that the Democratic nominee's proposal for halting the tests was the same that Russian Premier Bulganin advanced last Saturday in a letter to President Eisenhower.

Adoption of this proposal, Nixon asserted, "would be playing right into the Communists' hands."

Man Loses Claim Ohio Couldn't Prosecute Him

CLEVELAND (AP) — An Appellate Court Tuesday rejected the argument of a man who claimed Ohio couldn't legally prosecute him because the bank he robbed was under federal jurisdiction.

The Appeals Court held that the conviction in Common Pleas Court was valid because Ohio has a law against robberies and, under it, bank robberies are not set aside as separate cases.

Stephen M. Kostura was convicted of robbing a Central National Bank branch in suburban Parma on Oct. 24, 1955. His attorney, Henry C. Lovine, said that because there is a federal law against robbing national banks such as that one, only the federal government had jurisdiction in the case.
